An Ordonnance

Of the Most Christian King:

Forbidding

His Subjects to have any Commerce with the Spaniards, and Commanding them to commit Hostilities upon them.

Of the Nineteenth of October, 1673.

His Majesty having been informed, That the Governor of the Spanish Netherlands hath caused Acts of Hostility to be begun the Sixteenth instant, on his Majesties Subjects, all along the Frontiers, hath Commanded, and by these Presents Signed with his own Hand, doth Command all his Subjects, Vassals, and Servants, to fall upon the Spaniards, both by Land and Sea, and doth forbid them to have hereafter any Communication, Commerce, or Intelligence with them, on pain of Death; And to that end his Majesty hath from this present Revoked, and doth now Revoke, all Licenses, Passports, Safeguards, or Safe Conducts, which may have been granted by himself, his Lieutenants Generall, and other his Officers, contrary to these Presents, and hath Declared them void and of no force, forbidding all persons to have any regard to the same, His Majesty ordering and commanding Monsieur le Comte de Vermandois Admirall of France, the Mareschals of France, Governors and Lieutenants Generall for his Majestie jeſtie in his Provinces and Armies, Field-Mareſchals, Colonels, Meſtres de Camp, Captains, Leaders, and Commanders of his Forces, as well Horſe as Foot, French or Forreign, and all other his Officers whom it may concern, to take care, That the Contents hereof be punctually executed within their reſpective Juriſdictions; For ſuch is his Majeſties pleaſure, who Wills that theſe Preſents be publiſhed and affixed in all his Townes, as well Maritime as others, and in all the Ports, Havens, and other places of his Kingdom, where it ſhall be neceſſary, that none may pretend Ignorance of the ſame.

Done at Verſailles, October 19. 1673.

Signed

LOUIS.

And underneath,
